You're inappropriately served a craft beer in a frosted glass, what do you do?

- Wait for the beer to warm up, say nothing to the service.
- Don't see the issue, you like all beer near freezing.
- Refuse the beer and ask for another served in a glass at a proper temperature.
- Note to management that the beer you ordered should not be served at such a cold temperature, and that they might consider asking if a customer wants a frosted glass.
